ON THE SCAFFOLD

Louis Harriot Gives Up His Life,

As the Penalty for an Awful Crime.

With Fiendish Bravado to the Last,

He Weakened When He Saw the Rope.

Brief History of a Crime Which Shocked the Country Only a Few Months Ago—Justice Swift and Certain.

Freehold, N. J., April 13.—Louis Harriot, the murderer of Mrs. Leonard, of Atlantic Highlands, was hanged this morning. He passed a quiet night in jail. He retired to his cot shortly after 11 o'clock last night and in less than 10 minutes he was sleeping soundly.

He was awakened at six this morning. He was given a bath, after which he ate a hearty breakfast. He then changed his old clothes and put on a new suit of black.

At 10 o'clock the murderer was sitting quietly in his cell waiting for the moment of execution.

When about to be led to the scaffold Harriot shook hands with the sheriff and said: "Good-bye, old man; you have been good to me."

He then burst into tears and had to be supported while his hands were being tied and the noose adjusted.

The drop fell at 10:20 a. m.

The crime for which Harriot paid the death penalty was one of the most fiendish ever committed in this state. The miserable wretch finding that he could not accomplish a vile purpose, murdered in cold blood a loving mother and wife.

The last seen of Mrs. Leonard alive was at 2:30 on the Friday afternoon that she was murdered. Her two younger children saw her at work upon a painting in the dining room when they left the house to visit a neighbor.

At 4:15 she same afternoon the two children accompanied by their elder sister, returned to the farm house and were surprised at not seeing their mother. After casually glancing into the rooms, Alice, the eldest daughter, concluded that her mother had gone to one of the neighbors' and so prepared the evening meal.

At 5:30 when the father came home from work Alice asked him if he had seen their mother. He told that he had not and that if she was not in the house she must be at a sick neighbor's. The father then went to the stable to attend to the horses and was surprised to find that the team which had been used that afternoon by Harriot had been detached from the wagon, but that the horses were unharnessed and unfed.

Mr. Leonard wondered at this negligence on the part of Harriot, but had no suspicion that a horrible crime had been committed. On his return to the house Mr. Leonard joined his children at the supper table.

Supper over, the father left the house, telling his children that he was going over to Mrs. Murphy's house, where he supposed his wife was.

Upon querying her in regard to his wife, Mrs. Murphy informed him that Mrs. Leonard had not been at her house that day. Mr. Leonard returned home and began visiting the various rooms of the house. When he tried to open the door of the store room he felt a weight against it.

A harder push threw it open, and, as he entered, he stumbled over the prostrate form of his wife, who lay with her feet against the door and her head against the opposite wall.

Mr. Leonard was stricken with horror as the rays of his lamp fell upon a pool of blood in which his wife was lying. The left side of her head had been crushed in and a rope had been fastened around her neck. So tight had the rope been drawn that that its coils cut into the woman's neck and severed the windpipe.

Suspicion at once fell upon Harriot and a search was made for him. The brutal wretch was found on board the Keyport boat for New York. He was at once placed under arrest, promptly indicted by the grand jury and his trial resulted in conviction in the first degree. Soon after being sentenced to death Harriot confessed having committed the murder.

SEVERELY CANED.

Van Wert, O., April 13.—Dex Coates, a well-known young man here, was severely caned yesterday by Miss Christine Miller, a young lady about whom Coates was charged with circulating slanderous stories.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

A Train Boy Headed for the Windy City.

St. Marys, O., April 13.—(Special)—Harry E. Looker, aged 19, and in the employ of the Union News company, has disappeared. He was working the passenger trains on the Lake Erie & Western road, and when he arrived at Lima yesterday afternoon, informed Manager Chase that his box was at Lafayette, claiming that he did not have sufficient time to get it on the train.

He was supplied with sufficient goods to complete his run to Sandusky. He returned to Lima this morning on the 9 o'clock train and when it pulled out of the depot, said he was going to South Lima to telegraph for his box, but instead boarded a Chicago & Erie freight train bound for the Windy City. The box which he claimed was left at Lafayette, was found in the depot at this place and contained nothing but an old coat and vest. Manager Chase has sworn out a warrant for his arrest and the youngster will likely be apprehended.

A JEALOUS ACTOR.

He Fires a Fatal Bullet Into His Wife.

Boston, April 13.—George Gerry, a variety actor at the World's theater, attempted to kill his wife early this morning at their boarding house, by shooting her in the back, and as a result she is in a dying condition at the city hospital. She is about 18 years old and was engaged at the same place. Jealousy was the cause of the shooting. Gerry left the house after the shooting and is still at large.

OVER A HUNDRED PEOPLE

Were Drowned by the Floods in the South.

The Water Subsiding and People Able to Take a Survey of the Damage.

Jackson, Miss., April 13.—The water in the Tombigbee river is now falling. The number of drowned has reached 125. When the water subsides entirely it is thought other bodies will be discovered.

It will be several days yet before the river gets inside its banks. In many places it was upward of ten miles wide. Mounds that have never before been overflowed were under six and eight feet of water. Houses in numbers were swept away.

Water is falling in the big Black river.

All the work put on crops will be lost.

In the overflowed districts many farmers had almost finished planting both corn and cotton.

Arkansas Floods.

Little Rock, Ark., April 13.—Reports are being hourly received from all sections of the State to the effect that the rivers are rising rapidly and overflows are also momentarily expected to occur.

White River is higher than it has been for two years.

The Arkansas is coming up very fast. Trains are still delayed from 2 to 6 hours on account of wash-outs which occurred a week ago.

In South Dakota.

Aberdeen, S. D., April 13.—Rain has been steadily falling since early morning. The Jim River has not been on such a rampage for years and thousands of acres of bottom lands are under a foot of water. The grade and bridge over the river at Eaton have been washed away and the expensive improvements at Hecla and other points are in great danger.

TO PLUG UP THE WELLS

Oil Men to Cease Operations for Six Months.

A Movement to Raise the Price—Thousands of Men Will be Thrown Out of Employment.

St. Marys, O., April 13.—(Special)—A movement is on foot in Pennsylvania to suspend operations for six months, so as to curtail production and advance the price of oil.

Your correspondent has seen several prominent local oil men and they are favorably impressed with the scheme.

It is likely that a similar move will be inaugurated in this field, as most of the wells throughout the entire Ohio field have decreased alarmingly in production.

Besides Ohio oil is bringing only 35 cents, whereas eastern crude is worth 58 cents.

Should the project be carried out thousands of men will be thrown out of employment.

BIG BLAZE IN KANSAS

Mr. Ettinson's Leavenworth House Destroyed.

Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Damage with Less Than Half an Insurance.

Leavenworth, Kas., April 13.—Henry Ettinson's great mercantile house was almost totally burned to the ground by fire last night. The building and contents were valued at $200,000 with a total insurance of less than half that amount.

The building was a handsome three-story brick, almost new, with mansard roof, and was filled with a stock of clothing and dry goods.

The fire raged for five hours and for a time the entire block was threatened with destruction. A heavy rain had prevailed all day, thus aiding in the saving of adjacent property.

The fire originated in the basement and was communicated to the upper stories by means of the elevator shaft. The conflagration was the most disastrous encountered here in many years. At 1 o'clock a. m., the south wall fell into the street and several firemen narrowly escaped being killed.

QUARTER OF A MILLION.

A Disastrous Fire reported From Butte, Mont.

Butte, Mont., April 13.—A disastrous fire occurred here yesterday, destroying the smelter of the Butte and Boston company. The loss is estimated at $250,000; insurance $60,000.

The fire was caused by the intense heat from the furnace, which was being skimmed. Efforts were directed toward saving the silver well and concentrator on either side. These were successful.

Eight O'Hara furnaces, six Bruckners and four reverbratory furnaces were totally destroyed, and 500 men are thrown out of employment.

The Cattle War.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 13.—Gov. Barber last night received a telegram from President Harrison in answer to a request for United States troops to assist in the settlement of the trouble between the Wyoming rustlers and cattlemen, stating that he had ordered the secretary of war to furnish a sufficient force of soldiers to aid the authorities in restoring peace. The troops will be ordered out from Ft. McKinney.

DIVORCE COURTS.

Wapakoneta, O., April 13.—(Special)—Judge Day, of the common pleas court, granted divorce to Barbara Williams from John Williams, as prayed for, and gave her the custody of a child. The case of Julia Suchland v John Suchland settled.

THE POOL BILL KILLED

Bills for the Relief of the Supreme Court.

Tariff Discussed in the House.

The Sugar Bounty Measure Goes Through by a Strictly Party Vote—Columbus Chat.

Columbus, April 13.—(Special)—The republicans yesterday afternoon passed a bill providing for the payment of a bounty on all sugar manufactured in Ohio.

It was a party question from the beginning, as all arguments made were in the line of high protection as laid down by McKinley.

The bill is for the benefit of Findlay and is founded on the high protective tariff plan. It is a fit companion for the Spencer street railway bill.

After Mr. Carney had spoken on the benefits of having sugar manufactured in the state, Mr. Winn proceeded to scalp the bill.

He said: "The title of the bill should be changed. It should be read 'a bill to steal from the people to build up a corporation in Findlay.'" Mr. Winn charged that the bill would not stand the test of constitutionality.

Mr. Griffin, in common with the other republicans, favored the bill. He said it was constitutional, and referred to a law passed by congress in regard to sugar.

Mr. Clapp favored the bill because he claimed it would create a new industry and thus give employment to more persons. The bill finally passed by a strict party vote, the republicans in the affirmative and the democrats in the negative. The bill just received a constitutional majority, 54 votes. Messrs. Llewellyn, Martin and Wanzer, republicans, could not be whipped in and voted with the democrats.

Mr. Taylor, of Champagne, said the scheme was a good thing for the state; that it would result in a reaction in the price of sugar, and finally it would develop a new industry in the state.

Mr. Wanzer moved to amend so as to include maple sugar, evidently desiring that his county should be in on the ground floor. This did not suit those engineering the bill and it was killed.

The bill provides that the manufacturers of the sugar shall be paid a bounty of one-third of a cent per pound, while the farmer raising the plants from which the sugar is made shall be paid two-thirds of a cent, the bounty to be paid for three years.

To Cure Drunkards.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the Abbott bill providing for the cure of drunkenness.

It provides that the governor shall select and appoint three trustees who shall be instructed to contract with not more than one person, company or corporation, to treat personss who are addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating liquors, and the treatment must be for the purpose of destroying the craving of intoxicating liquors and for no other purpose.

The person to receive this treatment must be a citizen of this state and recommended by the representative of said county.

Pool Selling Defeated.

Mr. Baird's bill to promote the breeding of fine horses by making it lawful on tracks not less than one mile in length to give premiums, stakes, and sell pools on races on regular days, was reported by that member.

He explained the bill by saying it permitted fair associations to have races and sell pools.

"I propose to visit some of these tracks this summer," said the member from Ashland, "and I want a chance to lay a dollar on the short horse."

He was asked, "Do you propose to improve the breed of horses by legalizing gambling?"

The bill was lost by a vote of 3v yeas to 35 nays.

County Recorders' Bill Defeated.

Mr. James' house bill amending the Garber salary law, which was lost and reconsidered, was lost again yesterday afternoon.

The bill repealed the section of the Garber law relating to county recorders and restored the fee system.

Physical Culture in Schools.

The senate has passed Molter's bill requiring instruction and practice in the common schools of the cities of the first and second class and educational institutions of the state. The bill provides that physical culture which shall include calisthenics, shall be included in the branches to be regularly taught in the common schools in cities of th efirst and second class, and in all educational institutions supported wholly or in part by money received from the state, and it shall be the duty of boards of educations of cities of the first and second class, and boards of such educational institutions, to make provision in the schools and institutions under their jurisdiction for the teaching of physical culture and calisthenics, and to adopt such methods as shall adapt the same to the capacity of the pupils in the various grades therein.

The Columbus Ripper.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the Columbus reorganization measure came up in the form of an amendment for the original Daugherty bill offered by Mr. Pudney which embodied the chief features of the Cleveland plan of government, but it provides for the appointment of the board of control, until a new mayor is elected, by Gov. McKinley and Probate Judge Haggerty. This clause caused a fight between the republican members. Messrs Clark and Holcomb plainly said that such a lodgement of power is an insult to Gov. McKinley deliberate and without cause by the little cabal in the party which has decided upon a rule or ruin policy simply because Gov. McKinley will not aid in the furtherance of their efforts to punish Senator Sherman for defeating ex-Gov. Foraker in the senatorial contest.

The compromise had been agreed upon without their knowledge and they refused to come into the fold. On the final vote Mr. Holcomb voted with the democrats, but the bill was passed by a vote of 60 yeas to 28 nays.

During the afternoon another brush occurred between Messrs. Kelly and James on the farmers' ditch bill which was finally recommitted to the committee on ditches, drains and water courses to give the fighting commissioners of Ottawa and Wood counties a chance to talk to the committee. The house recessed at 8 o'clock.

Adjournment.

Senator Jerry Carpenter made the speech of his life yesterday in opposing the house amendment to fix the date of adjournment next Monday. He wanted it referred to the finance committee of which he is chairman.

His object was to control the date of adjournment until the conference committee on the general appropriation bill could agree. He thought if the date was fixed the house could force the senate to recede from its amendments. He regarded this as humiliating for the senate. He advocated the great principle of independence for the course. Messrs. Nichols and Lampson thought that by fixing the date the committee would get together.

A compromise was effected by postponing the matter till Thursday. The senate thereby indicated its intention of standing by its members on the finance committee.

Supreme Court Relief.

The members of the supreme court will be increased by this legislature. There is no doubt about that. The senate passed the McConica bill increasing the court to ten, but the house amended and passed the bill so as to have the court consist of six judges, who shall divide themselves into two divisions of three each.

Nearly the entire session of the senate was taken up in discussing the Nichols bill providing amendments to the Australian ballot law.

Mr. Lampson offered an amendment conferring upon the deputy election supervisors of each county the powers now vested in the clerk of the court, which was adopted.

He had another amendment adopted providing that townships and municipalities with a population of less than 1,500, where an election is to be held under the old law, a voter must prepare and fold his own ticket in the booth as provided under the general ballot law.

Appointments.

Gov. McKinley sent the appointment of Robt. M. Hazeltine, of Mahoning county, as chief inspector of mines, to the senate. The appointment was confirmed. It is a reappointment, Hazeltine having been first appointed by Gov. Foraker.

The governor has appointed B. S. Stanton, of Cincinnati, as a member of the board of health, and the same was referred to the committee on benevolent institutions.

Appropriations.

The conference committee on general appropriation bill has agreed, and report has been adopted in both branches and is now a law.

Refused to Concur.

The senate this morning refused to concur in the house amendments to the McConica bill increasing the number of supreme judges. The senate bill provided for five additional judges while the house cut the number down to only one. It is the intention of the democrats to vote against an increase of officers and without democratic votes the bill cannot pass.

The senate to-day passed Winn's bill providing against accidents on railroads and limiting the hours of train men to 15 hours.

The senate has passed Von Seggern's bill authorizing justices of peace to administer oaths in all matters coming before such tribunals and turn all fees into city treasury.

Notes.

Senator Geyser yesterday afternoon introduced a bill allowing Cecil, Paulding county, to issue bonds to the extent of $2,500 for fire engine house purposes.

Hildebrand's bill authorizing the inspector of workshops to cause an official inspection of powder and dynamite factories passed the senate yesterday afternoon.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed the Winn bill authorizing the commissioners of Defiance county to levy an additional tax of one mill for general purposes.

Seneca county township may have good roads if they so desire, as Flumerfelt's bill authorizing trustees to have work done, passed the senate yesterday afternoon.

Flumerfelt's bill authorizing commissioners of Seneca county to issue $20,000 in bonds to pay deficiency in the court house fund passed the senate yesterday afternoon.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed house bill by Mr. Ely transferring the state experiment and signal station from the control of the State university to the state board of agriculture.

Sheriffs and deputy sheriffs can now ride on freight trains when performing any court work or serving notices, as the Blackburn bill permitting them to ride on such trains passed the senate yesterday afternoon.

Senator VanCleaf secured the passage in the senate of a bill that provides where a private road has been continuously used for 21 years it shall be regarded as a public thoroughfare and cared for by the road supervisors.

Geyser's bill submitting to a vote of the people of Lima the question of issuing $150,000 in bonds for manufacturing purposes passed the senate. This is similar to the Cunningham bill that was defeated in the house early in the session.

Mr. Clark, of Cuyahoga, has introduced an old chestnut in the shape of a bill providing for the organization of fidelity companies to guarantee the honesty of persons holding positions of private or public trust.

Under a suspension of the rules the house has passed the Hildebrand bill providing that the state inspector of shops and factories shall inspect powder and dynamite factories.

A delegation of citizens of Lancaster is in the city with a bill providing that the governor shall appoint a commission of two expert accountants of opposite politics to examine into the financial condition of affairs at the boys' industrial school and where bills are found legitimate the commission is given power to pay the same.

B. F. Richardson, a convict from Hamilton county, was killed in the penitentiary this morning by the bursting of the steam pipe of a stationary engine.

A NEWSPAPER IN FLAMES

Washington Star Office Entirely Destroyed.

Most Stubborn Blaze to Control.

Splendid Plant at the National Capital Leveled to the Grounds by a Fierce Conflagration.

Washington, April 13.—At 9 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the engine room, adjoining the stock room and press room of the Evening Star office, and although the alarm was promptly given and the entire department responded immediately, the fire spread rapidly toward the interior of the block and soon reached the stereotyping and composing rooms, on the third and fourth floor.

At this hour (10:30 a. m.) the second, third and fourth floors are gutted, the press room badly damaged, the magnificent Potter press is thought to be completely ruined, and the two Hoe presses are damaged to some extent.

The steretyping room is in ruins, but the machinery is probably not seriously injured. The fire is still burning furiously in the interior of the closely built block and seems to be working to the rear of Galt's big jewelry store.

The entire fire department is at work, but as there is no way of access to the block, except through or over the high buildings composing it, the firemen are seriously handicapped in their work. The National Tribune has offered the Star the use of its facilities and the paper will appear this forenoon, but probably in a reduced form.

KEELEY'S CERTIFICATE.

Gov. Fifer Revokes the Action of the State Board.

Springfield, Ill., April 13.—In the appeal of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, of Dwight, from the action of the state board of health in revoking his certificate, Gov. Fifer has reversed the action of the board.

Dr. Keeley's certificate was revoked June 30, 1881, and the governor, after examination of a transcript of the records and proceedings in the case, says it appears that the certificate was revoked without such notice, without such trial and finding upon the facts as the law requires.

The revocation under such circumstances was unauthorized and void.

The Western Window Glass Manufacturers' association, with which Toledo is connected, has agreed that all factories shall shut down on May 31 and remain closed until October 15. That is a pretty good-sized rest.

KEYSTONE STATE

Stands Firmly by Grover Cleveland.

Rousing Convention at Harrisburg,

With Democracy Full of Enthusiasm.

Jersey City Whoops it Up in Usual Style.

National Politics and State Conventions of General Interest to Every Reader of the Great and Growing Bee.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 13.—The convention delegates and their followers were stirring at daybreak, though most of them had had little sleep.

A conference of the leaders was called in Mr. Harrity's room at 8 o'clock. State Senator Ross and Congressman Beltzhoover were present and there was some discussion of possible slight changes in the slate that was fixed up last night.

The conference finally determined, however, to leave the program unchanged. Mr. Beltzhoover's speech was submitted and approved and Mr. Ross outlined his remarks for approval. The conference adjourned at 9:30 and Mr. Harrity went down stairs for breakfast.

At 12:15 o'clock J. Marshall Wright, chairman of the state committee, called the convention to order and Secretary Neal read the call for the convention.

The list of secretaries, sergeants-at-arms and assistants was read. Then the secretary called the roll of delegates and contestants. There were 68 contestants, 50 of them being from Philadelphia.

During the reading S. Z. Haubecher withdrew his contest in Franklin county and James H. Wisebank in the fourth Philadelphia district. When Philadelphia was reached the contestants from the second district interrupted the roll call to move that the contesting delegation be substituted for that on the regular roll. Chairman Wright ignored the motion and amid cheers ordered the roll call to proceed.

George Morgan, of the Twenty-seventh Philadelphia district, also withdrew his contest. The reading of the list was completed at 12:50.

John R. Reid, of Philadelphia, then took the floor and placed in nomination for temporary chairman Hon. T. E. Beltzhoover. Nominations were closed and Mr. Beltzhoover was unanimously chosen.

John R. Reid and Hugh Crilly, of Lehigh, were appointed a committee to escort Mr. Beltzhoover to the chair. Mr. Beltzhoover was received with cheers. He said:

"I accept with thanks the position of honor to which I have been assigned, and ask your considerate co-operation and courtesy in the discharge of its duties. I shall delay your deliberations only by the briefest suggestion of some of the essential principles on which the great party we represent is founded, and for which it contends in the present contest.

"The enduring struggle of the masses of humanity to obtain the bare necessaries of life has shown that the problem of the government is best solved by making it as cheap and economical as possible.

"The question of how much money is to be wrung from the people under the sovereign power of taxation is the most important issue in all political contests, and in its discussion and decision it should never be forgotten that the highest statesmanship consists in guarding the property and homes and comforts of the toiling millions of the nation.

"We are determined also that there shall be no difference between the money of the rich and the poor, but that the sons of toil shall receive their wages in exactly the same currency as the millionaires receive their dividends.

"We want every dollar of our money, whether of gold or silver or paper to be able to stand on its own legs and travel on its own merits everywhere in the world and that there shall go with it our commerce and our flag into every port and city and island in the whole circle of the globe.

"We are for honest trade, honest money and honest government, and in the enunciation of these principles there should be no uncertainty in the platform of this convention. In the selection of a strong and courageous leader who will bear our banner, inscribed with these inspiring legends, there should be no difficulty.

"The galaxy of democratic statesmen from whom the selection is to be made was never so full of distinguished names.

"It is perhaps invidious to suggest any one, but I will be pardoned for saying that when tariff reform and honest money and honest government are seeking a champion in this campaign, there is one who stands out before all the world, recognized by all men as the embodiment and exponent of our principles and the idol of the democratic masses of the nation.

"The name of Grover Cleveland (prolonged applause) is enshrined in the affections of all the intelligent, virtuous and substantial citizens of the republic.

"They honor him for daring to be right when it costs him the brightest jewel in the crown of human ambition. They love him for his heroic character, for his unselfish patriotism, for the beautiful and peerless one who presides over the devinities of his fireside and for the little hostage which their love has given to the security and sanctity of all the happy homes of this Christian nation.

"This tribute to the incomparable leader on whom the eyes of the country are now fixed as the man for the occasion must not be regarded as disparaging in any way to the scores of other noble democrats who are worthy of the highest honors of their party and their country.

In magnificent manhood, in intellectual vigor, in sterling integrity, in unfaltering devotion to duty and in all the exalted characteristics of mind and heart and soul, which have always commanded success and deserve it, Robert E. Pattison (great cheering) is the peer of any one.

"This is a government of the majority and to this basis and salutary principle all honest democrats should yield implicit and unfaltering obedience.

"The great supreme and irrefragable law of the democratic faith is the will of the people as expressed by an untrammeled ballot and an honest count.

"It has never won and never can win by cunning deceit or fraud, for all these acts our opponents have an unchallenged monopoly."

Mr. Beltzhoover then analyzed the tariff question and defended the action of the house in attacking it by individual bills.

Ahk-Klain (The Big Lake), British N. W. T., June 16, 1891.—After Paddy's return we all thought the food question was settled, but inside of two or three days it was gone again, and we were issuing to the Indian packers from our own scants upplies.

There was much dead timber passed through the next day (June 10), but it did not seriously interfere with us. The only trouble was the slight one that when grouse were flushed in it they invariably flew long distances and were seldom secured. A hunter on an exploring trip carrying a dozen necessary odds and ends besides his gun is seldom prepared for an immediate wing shot and cannot follow up for flying birds like a sportsman devoted wholly to the pursuit.

The only fresh signs of large game we saw were those of bears grubbing in the swamps for roots. Just before noon we crossed the pole bridge and, as usual, it was over a mountain torrent.

The middle of the forenoon next day (11th) heavy thunder was heard not far away, and at noon a brisk thunder shower with heavy hail sprang up and lasted for two hours. Many of our Indians had never heard thunder before, and such a fierce storm must have been a startling initiation.

Takou Fur Traders.

They said the great rumbling noise was caused by the flapping of the wings of a huge dusky bird, and some positively asserted that they had seen it that day. Practically the Pacific coast of Alaska is unfrequented by such storms, but the interior plateau has its full share.

These storms always seemed prolific in dusky grouse and we secured several that day. Russell in shooting one cut off a two-inch thick green spruce limb in the way, showing the great concentration and power of the Winchester 10-gauge shotgun. Over 2,500 miles in the field, exploring, hunting, scouting and marching has shown me that this rapid-fire shotgun coupled with a 40-82 Winchester rifle and a Smith & Wesson 44 or 45 caliber revolver practically arms the bearer for all sorts of game and dangers to be met by firearms as thoroughly as it is possible for mechanism to do so; beyond this is a matter of sportsmanship or a contest between woodcraft, prairie lore and general experience and intelligence.

That day's march was a fearful one through wet moose brush and deep swamps.

At noon next day, after ascending toward the great divide between the Pacific ocean and Bering sea drainage baisin, we reached the timber limit, the low, flat pass directly ahead in full view.

Near the Ptarmigan Pass.

Russell had killed 13 ptarmigan before the storm and after it had cleared up they could be heard cackling in all directions, and before dark we had another half dozen without really hunting for them. I called this the "Ptarmigan Pass."

From the high hill near by no less than half a hundred lakes could be seen in the great valley beyond, one of which was undoubtedly the big lake for which we were striving. Seeing the big lake so inspired the Indians that they were up bright and early next morning and got away with the first packs before 3 o'clock, hoping to make it that day, I think, but little dreaming of two camps yet in between.

The middle of the forenoon there burst on our view the whole valley of this great tributary to the mighty Yakon, the scene ahead being perfectly studded with glistening lakes. The big lake seemed almost under our feet, not over three miles away.

Some days back I had sprained my ankle—I think it was the time I had on my extra slippery shoes—and though it hurt me considerably at the time I paid but little attention to it for the next three days.

It was now paying me considerable attention, however, and growing steadily worse so that by the time the lake was reached I was just about hors du combat in a pedestrian way. It was one of the luckiest unlucky accidents I ever had happen.

Despite the dense swarms of musquitoes that night the Indians were up and away with the first packs by 3:30; the first lake being reached an hour later. The folding canvas boats now came to the front, so I will briefly describe them. They are the King boats of Kalamazoo, Mich., and in their construction are quite unique, making them very strong, carrying readily a ton each, and weighing just over 100 pounds apiece.

There is a double jacket, both of which have to be ripped to sink the boat, the outer one very heavy canvas and the inner one waterproof. I had named them: Andrew Allen Bonner, Robert Edwin Bonner and Frederic Bonner, after the patrons of the expedition; the editors and proprietors of the New York Ledger. At First Lake we put up Frederic Bonner in 40 minutes and there were two movements with each hand at the mosquitoes to every one toward building up the boat. First Lake was two and a half miles long; the first portage about half a mile over; Second Lake gave us only one-half a mile; the second portage one and a half miles, while Third Lake gave us two and a half miles, a good breeze to sail with, and a two-pound pickerel, another of about the same size getting away.

Here also we met our last party of outward bound fur-traders, our party securing some needed mocassins and a little dried moose meat from them. They were surely wild enough creatures, the grown ones extremely shy, while the dogs skulked away growling, and the children ran howling from us as soon as the two parties met.

The third portage was two and a half miles across, while "Fourth Lake" gave us an hour and a half on its waters, and as this brought us up to 7 o'clock we went into camp.

Although the packers had carried only at the short portages their ankles were black, bruised and badly swollen and it was evident we were not reaching the end of their journey any too soon.

Their foot gear was nothing but a mass of tied up rags and buckskin. I believe that nine-tenths of their trouble arose from the doubling of packs and that the trail is comparatively easy where one only is carried by Indians used to this work

The fourth portage was but a mile and "Fifth Lake" the same distance, while the fifth portage was only a third as far. This over and by the middle of the forenoon we stood overlooking "The Big Lake" in the Flukit tongue (Ahk-Lake, Klain, or Klane, Big).

I had thought the packers would take a rest for a day or two, or at least for the afternoon of the 16th, but they were so anxious to overtake the last party of Takons we had passed that they got away at 3 in the afternoon.

They had performed a Herculean task indeed, and deserved well of the fruits of the undertaking whatever thereafter may show for this. And now on the shores of the great inland lake it may be well to take a retrospect of the trail, now for the first time mapped, and see whether there is anything in it either for the present or the future. The overland trail was 80 miles long and some 45 on the river, or a rough 125 miles altogether.

I believe that a powerful light draught river steamer can ascend to the head of canoe navigation, or at least to the confluence of the main branches; still, the report of a good river boatman for all navigable months of the year would be the best information on which to test this, and would not be hard to obtain.

From either point a pack-mule trail to Ahk-klain can be easily made. With pioneering parties of fifteen to twenty men I have seen pack trains taken through equivalent country, keping up with cavalry commands averaging over twenty miles a day. Such a pioneer party ought to make a very good trail here in two weeks, or a month at least. From the big lake there is uninterrupted river navigation to Bering Sea in the summer months, although it is possible that one point—the Rink Rapids—may give trouble at certain unfavorable stages of the water.

It is, therefore, a mere matter of sufficient commercial interests being developed in the Yukon basin to justify the making and maintaining of such a trail in the spring and summer months. The Alaskan city to be benefited by this is plainly Juneau.

But the greatest benefit that this route will ever confer is, I think, in a railway; and not so very far in the future, either

To the casual observer, limiting the considerations to the country directly drained, there is not a great deal to tempt a railroad into Alaska, but as two-thirds of our western states and territories were developed by railways looking not to what was in them altogether but to some great terminus beyond, so Alaska may hope for one on the same principle.

The great Siberian railway, terminating at Vladivostok, is assured and will be built, it is officially asserted, in 12 years.

The nearest perpetually open winter harbor to it in Abercia, attainable by a railway, is in the Juneau vicinity, and by a railway down the Takou river.

There is absolutely no point west of this unless Bering strait, 36 miles across, should be tunneled, a far too formidable undertaking for the advantages to be gained.

From Juneau to Vladivostok the sea voyage can be made by an Atlantic "ocean greyhound" in a week, and at all seasons of the year. The construction of a railway along the Takou through the Alaska coast range would cost less, I believe, than the average road through the Alleghany mountains.

The great inland plateau gained, the construction to any point on the Canadian Pacific would be almost equivalent to that on our great western plains, of which this plateau after all is but a northern extension.

The most likely objective point on the Canadian Pacific to strike would be at Winnipeg, a busy, solid city, with many direct railroad connections to the very heart of the United States; in fact, this Alaskan road would be a natural branch of the Canadian Pacific that could operate it to better advantage than could be done as an independent line.

This branch would be less obstructed

Near the Head of Takou.

by snow than the main line, which again has less rival difficulties than lines further south, the line of maximum snow obstruction for North America lying somewhere nearer the central parallel of the United States.

NEWS FROM NAPOLEON

Coroner's Inquest in the Case of Charles Terrill.

Assault Made on a Prominent Citizen.

May Third Fixed as the Day on Which the People Will Vote on the Water and Light Question.

Napoleon, O., April 13.—(Special)—H. H. Lane, a furniture dealer of this place, while going home Tuesday evening was viciously assaulted by an unknown person

While passing an alley near the opera house a man sprang out and dealt him a powerful blow in the back of the head with some blunt instrument, felling him to the ground senseless. He remained in this condition about an hour, when he regained consciousness and staggered home. Dr. Maerker dressed the wound and pronounces it a severe one though not dangerous.

The assault no doubt was for robbery, as Mr. Lane had made several large furniture sales during the day, but luckily had no money on his person at the time.

Horrible Death.

Coroner pro tem Zarbaugh has filed his verdict in the case of Charles Terrill, who was killed on the Clover Leaf railroad several days since. From the evidence the following facts are adduced:

Hodges lived in Putnam county near the Henry county line with Eugene Terrill, and was known as Chas. Terrill. In company with another fellow he stole a ride on the truck of a fast freight. When half way between Holgate and Elery Hodges slipped and both legs striking the ground were broken, and of course having lost their control they were run over by the wheels and literally ground from his body.

The other fellow, whose name is Stout, held him up until, becoming exhausted, he was compelled to let him drop. The whole train passed over his body, grinding it to a pulp and scattering the parts along the track for several miles.

Stout rode to Elery and told what had happened. Searchers went back, the pieces of the body were collected and taken to Holgate where the inquest was held.

Hodges was but 15 years of age.

The council has fixed upon May 3 as the date on which to hold the water works and electric light election. The provisions of the enabling act are such that merely a majority vote will carry the proposition, hence there is but little doubt that Napoleon will have a water works and electric light combined within a year.

How about the prudence of allowing a cough to run on, rasping the pulmonary and bronchial organs, when that approved and speedy remedy Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant can be obtained from any apothecary.

BUSINESS AND POLITICS.

Peter Bogart Talks to a Detroit Newspaper Man.

"You can't set a price on good ventilation," said Peter Bogart, of Toledo, representing the Smead system, at the Cadillac yesterday. "People do not fully appreciate the importance of having perfect heating and ventilating especially in our school buildings, where the children spend so many hours a day, or they never would haggle over the expense."

Speaking of politics Mr. Bogart said: "I am democrat, but I expect Ohio to go republican this year. We are all for Cleveland. He will be nominated on the first ballot. The Hill boom has collapsed. Hill talked too much."—Detroit Tribune.

BORROWED A WATCH

And as a Result Will Spend a Time in the Workhouse.

The case of the state against Royal Green, charged with larceny, was tried and a verdict of guilty returned in Judge Pugsley's court room this morning.

Jenkins was indicted for stealing a watch from Armstead Green. In court this morning he stated that he had been in the habit of borrowing the watch to wear at festivals and on other dress affairs. On this occasion he received a letter from a friend in Dayton, who was sick and broke, and he pawned the watch for $5, which he sent to the Dayton friend.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the court imposed a sentence of $20 and costs and 15 days in the workhouse, to stand committed until the fine and costs are paid.

AS TO GLASSBORO.

Suit Entered to Foreclose a Heavy Mortgage.

Mr. John B. Ketcham 2d has begun suit in common pleas court against C. W. McLean to foreclose a mortgage for $38,000 on the Glassboro property, which a few years ago was handled with great flourish of trumpets by Mr. McLean.

MASSILLON BRIDGE COMPANY

Elect Directors and Officers—They Are Toledo Men.

Last evening's Massillon paper, the Massillonian, has the following relative to the Massillon Bridge company, which, by the way, is a Toledo concern:

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Massillon Bridge company was held at the office of the company in this city. The old officers and directors were re-elected, as follows: President, A. J. Sprague; vice president, H. M. Smith; secretary and treasurer, Warren C. Jacobs; directors, A. J. Sprague, John C. Darst, J. J. Swigart, H. M. Smith and Warren C. Jacobs. The other stockholders in attendance were Geo. W. Thomas and Herbert Baker, all the stockholders except Mr. Jacobs being from Toledo.

The customary annual dividend of 10 per cent. was declared. Secretary-Treasurer Jacobs says the past year has been a successful one and anticipates that the one upon which the company is entering will be equally as prosperous.

MAJOR OVERMAN.

Additional Charges Are To Be Filed Against Him.

The Cleveland Leader of this morning has the following relative to Major Overman in its special from Washington:

"The air is full of rumors regarding the case of Major Overman. A New York paper said editorially this morning that additional charges against him had been filed. Such is not the case. Inquiry was made to-day of Gen. Casey, chief of engineers, Col. Leiber, acting judge advocate general, and Gen. Grant, acting secretary of war. All of them told the same story, that there was nothing whatever in the matter that could yet be made public. Gen. Casey would say nothing at all. Secretary Grant said in reply to a direct question that no charges had yet been officially made against Overman. When asked whether charges would be filed he smiled and remarked that he had nothing more to say at this time. From other sources it was learned that Col. Leiber was engaged in formulating charges and specifications from evidence that had been procured since the trial and that they would, in all probability, result in the ordering of another court martial. It may be some little time before this is done, but there is every reason to believe that there will be another trial."

ROW IN THE SEVENTH.

Precinct Committeeman Hainbuch After the Gossipers.

Mr. Henry Hainbuch, one of the Seventh republican committeemen, requests the publication of the following in the Bee:

Seventh Ward Boodlers.

There is quite an excitement among the republicans on account of losing some of the city officials by not tending to their duty on election day, especially in the Seventh ward. But it is very easy to look into the matter. The republicans in the Seventh ward are afraid to get their feet dirty to go to the polls, and when they do put up candidates they feel so safe to be elected like a man been running a ferry boat for 20 years, and then get downed.

Next thing on the program is, it don't seem to be proper to take candidates acting as ward committeemen. Is it because they should use the boodle for their own campaign or for the whole ticket, or to pocket it altogether and then put the blame on somebody else to be a boodler, especially in precinct B. There was $4 paid in the fall of 1891 for expenses; there was $5 of committee money paid on the 4th day of April, 1892, and then send out four or five men to collect $5 a head when only five was donated. If there is any other information wanted please call at H. H., Lagrange street. He is still a republican and don't carry water on both shoulders, and spends his own money when he goes to the polls; and he will tend to it that the republicans in Mohrstown will not die out. But he don't want to be looked upon as a boodler. If this don't sound as the truth to some parties, call at H. H.

THE CORNER-STONE LAYING

And Reception for Bishop Horstman—Arrangements Being Made.

Last evening a meeting of the committee of arrangements for the ceremonies attendant on the laying of the foundation stone of the Immaculate Conception church met at the residence of Rev. Father McCarthy, Maumee avenue, and completed arrangements for the reception of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Horstman and the day's ceremonies. Dr. J. T. Lawless occupied the chair. Letters of acceptance of invitation were read from Norwalk, Sandusky and surrounding towns.

Mr. John M. Gorman has been selected as grand marshal of the day, and he will appoint a staff of aids this week.

The demonstration promises to be one of the greatest ever seen in Toledo. Every Catholic congregation in the city—13 in all—will turn out either in societies or as parishes.

The majority of the parishes will be headed by a band of music. The rendezvous will be at St. Mary's (German) church on Cherry street.

The following committees have been appointed:

Invitation—Rev. T. P. McCarthy, J. C. Phelan, John Downey, J. L. Burns.

Decoration—J. L. Burns, P. Christy, John Dillon, George O'Tool and P. Fitzpatrick.

Line of March—John O'Grady, J. M. Gorman, M. Walsh, Thomas Noonan and George O'Tool.

Press—Daniel O'Hara, John Downey, George O'Tool and John L. Burns.

It was decided to send communications to the various clergymen of the city giving full information of the arrangements made.

CITY CIVIL ENGINEER.

A Few Words About the Office and the Officer.

To the Editor: One of the most important offices for the council to fill is that of city civil engineer. A thoroughly competent man in that position is worth many thousands of dollars each year as compared with an incompetent man. He will save for taxpayers in numerous ways, and he will see that contractors do their work well.

As the plum falls to the democratic party this spring, they should not be induced to let any ring control them in filling the office. It requires something more than the lofty ideas or high aspirations that some men in this world are heir to, in filling so important a position as engineer. The amount of work done in this office amounted to over a million and a half dollars, as was shown by the daily papers. It requires a man to be sober, steady and of great nerve to carry the burden and do justice to his office and the taxpayers, whom he represents as their public officer.

Again. The city civil engineer practically employs inspectors on sewers, street improvements, etc., and it is of the first importance not only that the engineer should be beyond the reach of corrupting influences, but also that he should select inspectors who cannot be bribed by contractors.

The public have no idea of the vast number of men who apply for these positions, and what judgment an engineer has to exercise in trying to do his duty. The temptations are so great that it is a trying position for a young man to occupy. He must combat the assaults of men who have ripened into years of experience in all the methods and schemes for plundering the city. These are things which councilmen must consider.

WORST FORM ECZEMA

Baffled Best Medical Skill for Eight Months. Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies.

This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema in its worst form, and which baffled the best medical skill that could be employed here. The little sufferer was wrapped in agony for at least eight months. Six months of that time its suffering was simply untold, then I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, in two months the awful disease had ceased its vengeance, and my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance the disease had yielded, but I continued the medicine for several months after no trace could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctors here watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done!" The case was known far and wide, and everybody was much surprised. But thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice it surely would be when the little innocent one could have such a remedy at hand. (See portrait herewith.)

J. A. NICOLES, Bunker Hill, Ind.

A child was brought to me with chronic eczema that had defied splendid treatment from many good doctors. As a regular M. D., should have continued similar treatment, but thought it useless. So put it on CUTICURAS. The child is well.

Oregon fruit growers say that Oregon is to be the greatest fruit-growing state of the union. One fruit expert says that Italian prunes grown in the Wilamette valley are superior to those grown in Italy. The climate, he says, is like the great fruit region in Asia Minor. One grower has planted about 15,000 prune trees in 150 acres in the Wilamette, and it is said that prunes and other fruits are being planted in thousands of other farms. That part of the state promises to be a vast fruit orchard in the near future.

A snow-shoe competition for ladies was lately held by the Christiana Snow-shoe club. The interesting event took place on a hill which not many years ago was considered a very difficult one for men, but the fair snow-shoe runners did wonderfully They not only compassed the descent without staves or poles, but even insisted upon a hop being added. The request was complied with, and they had not, as it turned out, overvalued their powers in this respect, for the hop was cleared in the best style. Three prizes were awarded and a dance brought the day to a close.

The Boston Journal heard "the crack of the southern whip in Washington" when the bill passed the house placing cotton ties on the free list. What long ears the Journal men must have, to be sure.

Maryland democrats, led by Senator Gorman, have declared for Cleveland and tariff reform. It looks very much as though every state would fall in line with the same banner and banner bearer before the June roses blow.

The New York Sun persists in saying Mr. Cleveland got a black eye in the Massachusetts democratic convention and the Boston Herald retorts:

"A few more black eyes like the one he received there would nominate him by acclamation."

The point raised by Editor McKee before the house World's fair committee that congress has no right to pass a bill for Sunday closing of the fair, having no control of the world's fair grounds, appears to be well taken. The municipal laws of Chicago and the laws of the state of Illinois will be in force on the world's fair site in 1893, as they are in 1892. Why not?

After free wool, free cotton ties, and free cotton bagging should come free tin plate and free binder-twine. The democratic house can and should pass all these bills. The republican senate may and probably will reject them all. Then both parties go into the coming campaign on the right issue. The appeal to the country cannot then be misunderstood. If the people have not had enough of the McKinley monstrosity they will say so by their ballots next November.

A report from the postoffice department laid before congress contains the interesting information that 47,000 postmasters receive an annual salary of less than $200, and 20,000 less than $100. The "salary" of one postmaster in North Carolina last year was 88 cents. A bill is before congress to fix the lowest limit for postmasters' salaries, but, according to the report, its passage would necessitate the annual expenditure of an additional $7,200,000. Unless it is for "influence" it doesn't pay everywhere to be a P. M.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid, at the banquet given in his honor last week, made a graceful allusion to the recognized ability of Senator Brice. Speaking of the democratic nomination for president, he said:

"I would like to know why not Calvin S. Brice. Two states claim him, and he is big enough for the whole forty-four."

The tupenny Toledo Blade, which is small in all things, quoted the first sentence and omitted the last, of the above complimentary reference to the Senator, and then spread out in a characteristic assault. The old fossil has just life enough left to be a chronic dyspeptic and makes itself disagreeable every day.

A New York organ which substantiates its claim to that title by denouncing everything a democrat does and applauding everything republicans achieve (even the success of a Raum in hiding from the investigators of his department the facts that would betray his crooked work), is distressed beyond measure about the Geary Chinese exclusion bill. It says "the city of New York, the great commercial center of the United States, has a special interest in maintaining friendly relations with all the governments of the world." It therefore calls upon the chamber of commerce to interfere in favor of the Delph bill and as against the Geary measure. A score of Geary exclusion bills wouldn't unsettle the business equilibrium of New York and the rest of the country to compare with the unjust and oppressive McKinley tax law. Just perhaps again New York and its chamber of commerce and its Wall street are not entirely running the country.

Mr. Carnegie gauges success in life wholly by the dollars-and-cents standard. He sees "no advantage in a college education," and tells people, in print (because he doesn't see it), there isn't any. What does such a man, in his temple of Baal, know of the great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world without? What does he dream of the delights of the study of nature, art, literature, science and the religion of the soul that has no form for utterance? Would an Agassiz, or a Thoreau, or an Emerson, change places with a Carnegie? The choicest pleasures possible to man are those which money cannot buy, and yet these exemplars of greed and worshipers of gold assume to instruct the giants of mental strength and achievement how to make life a success! What unconscious burlesque. Yet the man, in a dim, groping sort of way feels it. He is just now worrying because he cannot find acceptable ways in which to spend his surplus gains. He realizes he cannot take it out of the world with him, and shorn of it how naked he must stand. Our gold worshipers would better study the meaning of life's success, before they enter the lists as teachers.

The Hon. Jerry Simpson, of Kansas, possesses to the full one quality, the courage to say in clean English what he thinks. In his speech in the house on the cotton bagging bill he declared himself an outright free trader; that he had left the republican party when it became the champion of special interests; that the Chinese exclusion bill was a disgrace to civilization, although, in defense of the laboring class, he had been compelled to vote for it. He lays the necessity for this measure at the door of our protective policy, and no better summary of the growth and result of this fatally foolish policy was ever made than when Mr. Simpson said:

"One man asked for protection and was protected. The man who had to confront the protected article desired protection on the products of his labor; and so the log-rolling went on. Labor the king; labor, the sovereign, has been pushed from its throne, and capital reigns, the bastard monarch, in its stead."

And yet the party for which Mr. Simpson stands exposed enters the political arena with a platform by which the industrial wrongs of the day are to be righted, and it is a platform which does not declare for tariff reform. If the industrialists see the underlying cause of present evil conditions as Mr. Simpson here sees and states it, why do they not join the democracy in removing the evil? Why whip the devil around a stump?

OUR PARTY ORGANIZATION.

Let us reason together brethren. The democratic organization in Toledo has not been the best for a number of years. Committeemen have done their duty, but apathy, indifference, and sulking has been characteristic of hundreds of democrats. We are not finding fault now, but if reference to these things will inspire the brethren to better work the Bee will have accomplished a party purpose and a party duty.

The elements of citizenship in Toledo are democratic. Good party work will make Toledo democratic. Unity, harmony, and a general disposition to make the party stronger will make Toledo Democratic.

No one thing encourages a party so much as to have good party workers in the elective offices and in places within the gift of the municipal legislature.

The one thing which will demoralize any party is throwing away an opportunity when fairly within party grasp and control. This kind of frittering away chances seems to be characteristic of Toledo democrats, and until a radical change is made in this respect the party must not expect good organization or an increase of party strength.

Just now a repetition of bad politics is threatened. An effort is being made to induce one or two democrats in the council to vote to retain Auditor Walker, a republican who has been in office six years. This is one of the best positions which the council has to bestow. A democrat, and one of the best auditors the city ever had, was summarily bounced to give Mr. Walker the office six years ago. There is no moral, party or business obligation for retaining Mr. Walker at this time. The democrats of Toledo are not so bankrupt in capacity, ability and business force that among its thousands of loyal voters not one man can now be found to ably conduct the office of city auditor. To yield to personal sentiment now would be worse than folly. It would mean the further demoralization of the party and certain dismemberment of organization.

Granted that Mr. Walker possesses financial ability (we say nothing against him personally), those who are so persistent in demanding his retention, can find occupation for him in private capacity if his services be of such commanding strength to his employers. To say they cannot, and to insist that he must be employed at public expense, is to make him a pensioner, a condition which he would resent, but which is the logical conclusion of the present argument of his friends.

The Bee would like to see a compact, thorough, and aggressive organization in Toledo. Never before was such an opportunity presented as right now. The congressional district is nominally republican, but a bright active young democrat might step to the front in leadership and make his influence felt in future successes. But no man can win with division and dissension in the democratic ranks.

Those who prefer the aimless, drifting sort of policy that has characterized the democrats of this section for some years will be indifferent now, and, by indirection, acquiesce in and aid the scheme to retain a republican in the best office within the gift of the council.

Those who want better politics, practical politics, good politics, strong organization and future triumphs will stand firm and pluck the fruits of the municipal election honestly and gloriously won.

Prepare well for next fall by doing well now.

A GOLDEN JUBILEE.

The Seneca Advertiser is fifty years old. What memories come trooping to the older generation that helped tide it over the troubles of early life and saw it a giant in the affections of a devoted constituency. Tiffin fifty years ago and Tiffin to-day represent the development of centuries crowded in less than a life space. To many of the printer boys who learned the "case" in the good old Advertiser this jubilee is a personal pride and gratification. The "Seneca Aggregation," as a jealous rival once called the graduates of the Advertiser, is a numerous family of workers in newspaper offices, and every one of the boys looks back with tenderest feelings to the days of tradelearning in the office which now for fifty years has been a champion of democracy, a teacher of good principles and a leader among the newspapers of Ohio. Here's a bumper to the Advertiser, a hope that its future may be as good as its past, its place always at the front.

The Inter-Ocean, with its usual narrowmindedness, is vigorously opposing the building of the democratic wigwam on the lake front. The plea is that it will not be torn down after the convention. Inasmuch as the committee is bound under heavy forfeit to do this very thing the assumed alarm of the Inter-Ocean is very diaphanous.

Congressman Funston, republican representative from Kansas, appears to have as dangerously loaded a mouth as the late Illinoisan who was retired by his constituents for unseemly talk.

They are still talking of the bye-elections in Rhode Island. The one that decided the deal is spelled the other way. It was a buy-election.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Public office is about the only public trust there is—all the other trusts keep as private as possible.—Philadelphia Record.

Gen. Mahone is the "Matt" Quay of Virginia and he will have to be abolished before the republicans in that state can win any elections.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That even the penitentiary guard was denied the Toledo Foraker men.

That democrats generally feel it is "coming our way" in municipal circles.

That there will be Easter balls galore next Monday night, in all parts of the city.

That Ten Mile creek is assuming its customary activity, the anglers putting in an appearance daily in goodly numbers.

That Councilman Schmuhl is a "bigger man than Grant" since his elevation to the vice-presidency of the board of councilmen.

That a program of Sunday runs by the Cycling club has been arranged, and extra week-night events will be announced from time to time.

That democratic candidates for the city offices feel much better since the show of solidity on the part of the councilmen at Monday night's session.

That republicans are still engaged in deciphering what brought about their defeat in the Seventh ward. The real cause is there were too many democratic votes.

SUNDAY AT THE FAIR

The Y. P. S. C. E. Takes Important Action.

A Crusade to be Made all Along the Line Against Opening the Buildings on the Sabbath.

Indianapolis, April 13.—The international committee of the Y. P. S. C. E., appointed to promote the fight against opening the World's fair on Sunday, met here at the call of Rev. R. V. Hunter, chairman, of Terre Haute. The committee considered the question of establishing a boycott if the Sunday opening was adhered to, but at length decided that that was injudicious.

A manifesto was issued by the committee providing for a campaign to accomplish the end desired. It urges local unions and individual members to write to congressmen and senators urging them to vote for an appropriation of $5,000,000 or as much more as necessary to secure the success of the fair, on condition that the gates be closed on Sundays and intoxicants excluded.

It also advises state action, with a view to closing as many state exhibits and in that way force the general exhibits to close.

WILL NOT BE HAY.

Believed in Washington that Attorney General Miller Will Succeed Bradley.

New York, April 13.—A special from Washington says considerable gossip is current as to the probable action of the president in filling the vacancy on the bench of the supreme court caused by the death of Judge Bradley. Several names have been mentioned for this appointment, among them being that of J. Hay Brown, of Lancaster, Pa.

It is well known, however, that the president has long desired to appoint Attorney-General Miller to the supreme bench. Without speaking authoritatively, there is good reason for an impression which prevails that the president may not make this appointment until the November election.

SOME POLITICS.

Albany Goes Democratic by Fifteen Thousand.

Trenton, N. J., April 13.—The democrats made a clean sweep here yesterday, capturing the board of aldermen and the board of freeholders, which gives them control for a long period of all the city and county offices.

The vote is viewed by the democrats as a popular indorsement of the legislation passed during the winter, creating a department of public works in the city and otherwise changing the form of the local government.

Albany, N. Y., April 13.—Mayor James H. Manning and the entire democratic ticket were elected by 15,000 majority.

The democrats carry 17 out of 18 wards and have probably 18 out of 31 supervisors.

Mr. Manning is a son of ex-Secretary of the Treasury Daniel Manning.

Political Notes.

Deleware democrats have decided to meet May 17.

Three Rivers, Mich., has instructed for Harrison.

Illinois counties are divided between Cleveland and Palmer.

Connecticut democrats meet May 11.

National League of Republican clubs will meet in Buffalo.

A FLEEING PASTOR.

New York Police Asked to Arrest Rev. Dunbar and Wife.

Oxford, Ga., April 13.—The New York police have been asked to arrest the Rev. Edgar D. Dunbar, alias Burnett, and a woman traveling with him as his wife.

He and his alleged wife said they were on their way to New York. Since their departure information has been received here that they are fleeing from the church authorities of Southern California. The charge is that they are illegally living together. Dunbar is said to have had many similar escapades.

HIS MIND WEAKENED.

St. Mary's, O., April 13.—(Special)—Ezra B. Hiestand, a school teacher and an ex-clerk of the township in which Ansonia, Darke county, is situated, has become helplessly insane and was to-day taken to the Dayton asylum.

Recently his brother was arrested on a serious charge and it is claimed that this brought about his present condition, more than anything else.

TOOK ALL IN SIGHT.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 13.—It appears that George M. Fritts, postmaster at Trout Lake, Mich., near here, the keeper of a general store and township treasurer, who absconded a few days ago, took with him the contents of over one hundred registered letters, a large amount of township funds and money belonging to creditors, in all over $10,000.

DON'T BELIEVE IT.

Buenos Ayres, April 13.—The Montevideo papers pronounce the London Times story, relative to the alleged negotiations between Uruguay and the United States for securing Rat island as a naval storage place, an absurd calumny.

McKinley has confessed that the tariff doesn't raise wages. It would ease his mind now if he would confess that it lowered them.—Wheeling Register.

NEWS OF THE LAKES

Cheap Rates to be the Rule This Year.

The Season Opens with Many Complications.

All the Marine Information of the Inland Seas Gathered for the Readers of the Bee.

Chicago, April 13.—(Special Marine Service)—The steamship Aurora, grain loaded, is still aground in the draw of Chicago Avenue bridge. She has been there since Monday morning, and the combined efforts of several tugs had failed to move her more than a few inches.

The delay and the attendant expense foots up a very large item. It is stated the big steamer is on the water main from the north to the west division, and that there is danger of the crushing in of the pipes, thus cutting off the water supply of the northwest side.

For two whole days street cars and other vehicles, as well as pedestrians, have had to go around or else make a full stop at the river. Mr. Corrigan, the owner of the Aurora and several other vessels now here, arrived in the city last evening from Cleveland.

With striking sailors and the detention of the Aurora Mr. Corrigan has his hands full.

New Steamboat Company.

The latest new steamboat company to commence business in Chicago is the St. Joseph & Lake Michigan Transportation company, who are to use the wharf of the Lake Superior line at Rush street bridge. F. W. Wheeler, of West Bay City (ex-congressman and shipbuilder), is president; James C. Williams, of Terra Haute, vice-president and treasurer; Capt. J. H. Langdon, general manager; A. Schwarz, general passenger agent. The steamers are the Sioux City and Ossifrage, and the route between Chicago and St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

The Seymour line, also a new corporation, will have the steamers Petoskey and Puritan, and will run them between Chicago and the straits. The Warde Transportation company, of Chicago, is also new, but no particulars are yet given out. J. J. Warde, the president, comes here from Detroit. When Capt. Ed Napier's new fast steamer is completed he will organize a new line along the lake front.

A Strong Combination.

That vessel owners around the great lakes have prepared to make a decided stand against what they term the tyranny of the Seamen's union, was evident yesterday when the contract between the Vessel Owners' association and the Knights of Labor Sea Faring Men's assembly was given out.

It is the most important move made for many seasons by the vessel owners, but it portends a vast amount of rioting along the docks. It is an alliance defensive and offensive between the knights and the owners, and extends to Milwaukee, Cleveland, Ashtabula, Sandusky, Fairport, Buffalo and Oswego. The Chicago contract is:

"It is hereby agreed by and between the undersigned vessel owners of the city of Chicago and the Lake Faring Men's assembly of the Knights of Labor that we, the undersigned vessel owners, will pay the following scale of wages as agreed upon by both parties to this contract, to be enforced during the season of 1892, and beginning April 1, as follows:

"1. That seamen's wages shall be nothing less than $1.75 a day from April 1 to September 1 on the basis of lumber freights from Menominee, Mich., be $1.50 per thousand feet, and to be advanced on the scale of one shilling freight and one shilling wages as freights may be advanced from the same place, the same wages to apply and govern all other ports. And it is understood that there shall be a difference of 25 cents per day less on tow barges than is paid on sail vessels as seamen's wages.

"2. Wages shall be advanced 25 cents per day for the month of September, and 50 cents a day for the remainder of the season. Trip wages shall be optional during November.

"3. And the undersigned Chicago vessel owners agree to ship none but seamen belonging to the said Lake Faring Men's assembly in so far as it is practicable or possible to do so without prejudice or loss of time."

This contract is signed by the officers of the two vessel owners' associations of Chicago and by vessel owners generally. Master Workman Dolan, who was here from Milwaukee to conduct the fight for the Knights of Labor, said yesterday that the agreement would be carried out honestly. A grievance committee of five members from each side will be appointed to arbitrate all misunderstandings between the seamen and the owners.

Troublesome Times.

Monotony is not present in the life of the Chicago agents of the lake transportation companies these days. Before their first steamer had sailed away for lower lakes, they have had a strike, which has demanded a small army of police on the docks. Yesterday a fierce war for business developed, and with hardly a stop rates on flour and other merchandise bound to the seaboard dropped 5 cents per 100 pounds.

The start was made at 20 cents per hundred pounds for flour, and that lasted a day. A rate of 17 1-2 cents held out for another day. Yesterday it was 16 cents, and to-day nearly every line will be taking flour at 15 cents to New York and 20 cents to Boston. The New England rate on corn was reduced from 11 to 10 cents per bushel.

"I have been here a good many years," a veteran agent said, "but this is the first time we have had all the troubles of the whole season in full bloom before our first steamer had left port.

This demoralization in lake and rail traffic is certain to extend from Toledo to Duluth, and is likely to result in a smashup of carrying charges on merchandise from the seaboard to the west.

The Iroquois Launched.

Marine City, April 13.—The steamer Iroquois, built by M. P. Lester at Curtis & Brainard's shipyard, was launched yesterday afternoon. The launch was witnessed by many from neighboring towns and friends from Cleveland, and was a pretty sight. Her keel is 240 feet, over all 258, beam 41, molded depth 21, fore and aft compound engine, built by the Phoenix iron works, of Port Huron. Her speed will be nine or ten miles an hour.

Upper Lakes Open.

Cheboygan, April 13.—(Special Marine Service)—Navigation to Lake Superior is now practically open and steamers would have no trouble in forging way through the ice in Soo river.

In Mud lake the ice has so far disappeared that fishermen are driving net stakes.

Boats arriving from Detour this morning so report.

Chicago Notes.

The Lake Superior line will start the season April 25 by sending the Jay Gould to Duluth.

Michigan City, Ind., April 12.—(Special Marine Service)—Arrived: Isabella Boyce, Jessie L. Boyce, Levi Grant. Departed: Parks.

Capt. Johnson's fleet is leaving for Green Bay. The Alice left yesterday for Marietta and the W. O. Goodman for Menominee.

There is talk again of the large dry dock at South Chicago, capable of holding the largest steamships now coming into Chicago. There is no dock for them now nearer than Milwaukee.

Several steamers of the Northern Steamship line, Lake Superior and Buffalo, which winter in Chicago, will not go to Buffalo, but will leave without cargo direct to Duluth if the Soo passage opens soon.

Masters sworn in yesterday at the custom house were as follows: Geo. Cooper, schooner Wayne; Jas. A. Brown, steamer E. P. Wilbur; D. N. Stalker, schooner Chas. Foster; J. M. Johnson, steamer Tuscarora; David Critchet, schooner Ashland; H. Zeeland, steamer E. C. Pope; Alexander Smith, schooner A. Mosher; John Lundberg, schooner Jas. G. Blaine; S. O. Marsh, steamer Ohio.

The tug Birckhead took her first tow out this morning—the Livingstone, grain laden.

The Schenck will take the Iron Cliff out to-day and then will leave for Buffalo to get a new wheel.

The first lumber vessel of the season came in this morning—the Atlanta, of the Chamberlain tow.

Monthly Meeting of the Humane Scciety.

Interesting Meeting of the New Century Club—Annual Meeting of the T. S. E. I.—Lecture Tomorrow Evening —Notes.

The monthly meeting of the Humane society last evening was well attended. President J. M. Brown in the chair, Mrs. Brooks acting secretary. Agent France's report for March showed the following summary of work done: Relief furnished, 5; cruelty and neglect to children, 12, to wife and family, 4; convictions in each case, 2; admonitions for cruelty to children, 8; investigations not sustained, 3; desertion cases, 1; cases of abuse to animals, 1; admonitions for cruelty to animals, 1; relief to animals, 1; horses shot, 3; children admonished, 4; homes found, 1; sent to Miami home, 3; to infirmary, 1; number of children who came under notice of the society, 40; total number of cases, 35.

Mrs. R. G. Bacon, chairman of the children's committee, reported on the case of a man living near South and Banks streets, who, is was complained, is neglecting his motherless children, the oldest of whom is only 12. If necessary Mrs. Bacon will call on Mr. France to interfere in the case. Only routine business occupied the rest of the meeting.

Mrs. A. M. C. Barnes entertained the New Century club last evening at her pleasant home on Jefferson street. Mrs. F. D. Jermain presided, and Mrs. A. P. kept the minutes. Mr. Gould, who was to have given the paper of the evning, was out of the city, and Dr. John North gave a most interesting paper on "The Development of Chemistry." Dr. North, who has been 15 years professor of chemistry in an Iowa university, was well qualified to deal with his subject, and the members and guests of the club were both entertained and instructed by his review of the known data concerning chemistry and its evolvement into its present scientific basis, with resultant influence upon scientific medicine, sanitary science, manufactures, etc.

Discussion upon the paper was participated in by Mesdames Barnes, Cronise, Fray, Bissell, and C. T. Bateman. The next meeting of the club will be with Capt. and Mrs. C. T. Bateman, 321 Eleventh street, April 26, when Mrs. Ellen S. Fray will read a paper on "Reserve and Its Uses."

THAT SCRAPPING AFFAIR

It Came Off in the Lenk Block.

Two Spectators Give Some Evidence, Although the Court Warned Them That They Would Criminate Themselves.

The case of John Mullen, who was one of the principals in Sunday night's fight with gloves, came up in police court this morning. The detectives had very little evidence with which to convict the men, and it looked at first as if the scrappers would get off.

Detective Nichter testified that the affair occurred in the Lenk block, third floor, corner Monroe and Summit streets.

David O'Neil took the stand and was asked if he attended the affair. The defendant's attorney objected, and called the attention of the court to that portion of the statutes making any person attending such an affair in any capacity or a person renting premises for such an affair a party to it and liable to the same fine as the principals themselves.

The court instructed the witness that he would not be compelled to answer questions that, in his judgment, would criminate himself if he attended the affair.

O'Neill was a little mixed and didn't know just what to do under the circumstances. Prosecutor Wheeler fired questions at him and received answers in substance as follows:

"I saw the prize fight Sunday night in the Lenk block. The men wore tights and were stripped to the waist. I went out for some water, and when I got back it was over. Mullen said he got knocked out."

Aubry Jordan also testified to seeing the affair, and that Mullen was knocked out in one round. It was to have been for 21 points.

All this was good evidence for the prosecution—evidence that it was not expected it would be able to obtain. The case will be finished to-morrow morning.

THE STATUE IN CLAY.

"Make me a statue," said the king,
"Of marble white as snow.
It must be pure enough to stand
Before my throne at my right hand;
The niche is waiting. Go!"

The sculptor heard the king's command,
And went upon his way;
He had no marble, but he went,
With willing hands and high intent,
To mold his thoughts in clay.

Day after day he wrought the clay,
But knew not what he wrought;
He sought the help of heart and brain,
But could not make the riddle plain—
It lay beyond his thought.

To-day the statue seemed to grow,
To-morrow it stood still;
The third day all was well again;
Thus, year by year, in joy and pain,
He wrought his master's will.

At last his life-long work was done—
It was a happy day;
He took his statue to the king,
But trembled like a guilty thing,
Because it was but clay.

"Where is my statue?" asked the king,
"Here, lord," the sculptor said.
"But I commanded marble." "True,
But lacking that, what could I do
But mold of clay instead?"

"Thou shalt not unrewarded go,
Since thou hast done thy best;
Thy statue shall acceptance win—
It shall be as it should have been,
For I will do the rest.

He touched the statue, and it changed;
The clay falls off, and lo!
A marble shape before him stands,
The perfect work of heavenly hands—
An angel pure as snow!

It was not Andrew Jackson who said, or maintained, that "to the victors belong the spoils." It was Silas Wright, a senator from New York, who was one of the most formidable debators in those days of great men.

There exists in some parts of South Dakota, Colorado and Texas a singular variety of grass called the "sleepy grass." When in a fresh, green state this plant is strongly charged with narcotic propensities, so much so that horses and cattle grazing it are thrown into profound sleep.

Envelopes are supposed to be quite modern, but in the Birch manuscripts in the British museum, No. 4443—105, there is a letter from Martin Triewald to Sir Hans Sloane, dated Stockholm, April 24, 1755, inclosed in an ordinary envelope, which is opened out and mounted at the end of the letter.

The reduction in the wages of puddlers from $4 to $3.50 per ton went into effect in the different rolling mills of Lebanon, Pa., yesterday, and was very generally accepted. It is virtually a reduction of 12 1-2 per cent., and was made necessary by competition in other places where even lower wages prevail.

A new metod of testing the hardness of steel has been invented by a Swedish metallurgist. It is based upon the intensity of current necessary to fuse a wire of standard size. Experiments show the current required for wires of various sizes, and upon this basis the quality of any sample can be determined.

It is announced that Mrs. Anna Wilstadh's reason for changing her will, by which the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts will probably lose the famous $200,000 Wilstach collection of paintings, was that she had been once refused a ticket of admission asked for on the ground of her ownership of a certificate of stock.

The vicereine dowager of Egypt—owing to the late Tewfik's principles, there is only one of them—is still a beautiful woman with a lovely complexion, brown eyes and hair of auburn tint. She is the daughter of a daughter of a former viceroy of Egypt and inherits, though her mother, the blood of the royal house of Turkey.

Aluminum is suggested for coining by Sir Henry Bessemer in discussing the demand for a token of the value of £1. Aluminum is so light that if taken from the pocket in the dark it would be instantly recognized as neither gold nor silver. Also the weight of lead or pewter alloys would make it impossible to pass off spurious aluminum coins.

Charles Bigelow, one of the Pan Handle railroad strikers at Indianapolis, enraged at being put off the train which brought in men to take the strikers' places, threw a piece of coal at the car, resisted arrest, but was finally overpowered. Patrol wagons had to be summoned. The detectives are menaced by the strikers and the situation is becoming critical.

Athanisus, the Greek, the most remarkable railway robber of modern times, the gentleman bandit of romance, who has been living and practicing his "profession" for years in the cold glare of the nineteenth century, has reformed and become a gentleman farmer in the famous Vale of Larissa. He raises orchids when he can, and talks over his wine about the days when he raised purses.

Camden, Me., before the recent division of its territory, had six graveyards and four hearses. In splitting up the town the section now called Rockport got four of the graveyards and three of the hearses, and the Camdenites don't know whether to feel angry or pleased. Camden is well provided with relics, however, and it has one graveyard that is more than a century old, and contains 144 unmarked mounds.

Capt. I. K. Morse, of Rockport, Me., has invented a course-indicator which is expected to prove of great value to navigators. He believes that his device will show the actual course steered for any length of time, as it records every movement of the compass and registers the difference between the direction of the vessel's head and the points of the compass intended to be followed. Any deviation from the course ordered, either from carelessness or otherwise, will be shown.

One of the "Blues" who was with Col. Burnaby and Gen. Graham, V. C., at El Teb writes: "That battle is one of the few British victories the anniversary—if such a word can be used in the case—of which only comes round every four years. It was fought on February 29, 1884, and was a most brilliant affair, for a comparative handful of British troops attacked the thrice previously victorious Arab tribesmen—Hadendowahs—drove them from a strongly-intrenched position, and captured cannon, Gatling guns and several hundred stand of Remington rifles. There is talk of celebrating the occasion on the part of the officers and men who were present.

"OLD JEAN."

Of course every newspaper man in Montreal remembers "Old Jean." And equally of course not a soul outside of newspaperdom ever heard of his existence.

"Old Jean" was connected in our minds, in the old days when I was a reporter on the Gazette, with fires at all sorts of unearthly hours, hot whisky and water in the parlor of the St. Lawrence hall after the forms were locked, and muscal drives home in the gray dawn, when all the streets were silent and spectral, and "Old Jean" on the box looked in his multitude of mufflings like an artificially animated mummy.

Perhaps ever so long ago "Old Jean" was young and dapper, and drove a smart cab in the daytime, but it would be impossible for those who knew him to imagine such a thing. I never remember having seen him on the streets of Montreal in broad daylight—that is, of course, during the hours the ordinary workaday world is abroad and at work.

"Old Jean" and his sleepy horse and rickety old cab never left the door of the Gazette office, or the St. Lawrence hall, to trundle homeward, before the streaks of dawn appeared in the skies. And he never was visible until most of the other carters had gone home in despair of picking up any chance fares.

Between 11 o'clock and midnight, as the "boys" began to return to the office from their assignments, "Old Jean" would station himself outside. As we filed in, it was always:

"Well, Jean, comment ca va?"

To which he would invariably reply, swinging his arms in a ponderous fashion: "Tojours le meme mauvais, d— mauvais."

Then he would cry to his horse in his curious mixture of French and English, "Restz tranquille vous; d—n you!" To that poor old beast, with shaky knees and downcast head, a mere mass of skin and bone which used to go fast asleep as it trotted quietly to a fire, quite unconscious of the blows old Jean used to shower upon his poor old hide all the way. How we used to laugh as we rolled along; looking out one of the windows every few minutes to catch a glimpse of the reflection of the fire over the house tops. And (it must be confessed) how we used to curse old Jean and his horse, as we thought of the indignant foreman in the office, swearing he would go to press without us. And then when it was all over, probably at 3 o'clock in the morning, after we had all had a glass of hot toddy apiece (perhaps two or three glasses), including old Jean, what a number of jolly fellows that old cab could accommodate at a pinch, and what a decided improvement was noticeable in the pace of the old horse. He knew as well as possible that the presses were thundering in the basement of the Gazette, and that there would be no more fires to go to, and that the snaches of song behind him meant home and bed. Ah! those were good old days—retrospectively. I am afraid they were pretty hard times then—days and nights of hard work.

Old Jean belonged to the newspaper world exclusively. No one ever heard of him appearing on any of the regular cabstands or picking up a fare among the general public. We regarded him as a part of the fire department of the paper, and he often appeared at the door of the local room just as the magic "thirty" had been sent to the composing room, to announce the fact that a second alarm had just sounded, and he was ready. The question would then arise as to who should go and get particulars. This was frequently settled by the whole of the staff tumbling into the ramshackle old conveyance, with the understanding that for the sake of such good company, the regular man was to pay for refreshments upon the return to the office. This was accepted as very sound logic in those days, though I hardly comprehend now how we arrived at it. I think there lingers more of the old Bohemian spirit in the journalistic world of Montreal than in any other city I have lived and worked in. There is certainly nothing like it in the Mecca of American journalism—New York.

It is quite inexplicable, but every newspaper man knows that there are more fires late at night in winter than at any other time. I remember we used to attribute this circumstance to the malignity of Providence, but possibly this was merely grossly illogical. Ugh! how bitterly cold it used to be turning out of the office, heated to boiling point, into the cold, damp sleigh and its thin blankets and damp straw. And how bleak the snow-clad streets were, with the gas lamps throwing ghostly shadows, and the wind whirling the loose snow hither and thither with almost blinding vehemence.

One horrible night in January, in the midst of a blizzard, we all went off to a big blaze—a burning sugar refinery or wood yard—something big, I forget exactly what it was. Old Jean and his horse could hardly face the storm. It was terrible, but at last it was written up and we hurried round to the St. Lawrence Hall for spirituous consolation. Old Jean never joined the circle behind the panels of the dark outer office, but something hot was invariably sent out to him. This night I remember, he had complained of feeling "tout brute entierment"—all scorched up. He had a touch of fever, but it had been no joy a fire for him to desert his post. He belonged to the Gazette, and, like the reporters, must be on duty, sick or well, fresh or tired.

And we were all so excited discussing the fire in the warm parlor that we forgot all about "Old Jean," cold and weary and sick outside. Suddenly Rafford, the city editor, jumped to his feet.

"Why, boys," he cried, "we have forgotten Jean, and he's sick. Mac, take him a big whisky at once." Mac immediately ran out and we all followed to see the phrsic administered.

Old Jean was sitting on the steps of the hotel all doubled up. Rafford shook him. Then Mac said laughingly: "Tell him I've a whisky; that'll wake him!" We all laughed, but old Jean sat still and made no answer. Suddenly we all became grave. Mac pressed the glass against the teeth. They were closed tight, and Mac's hand shook so that the glass rattled against them, and we all shuddered. Then we lifted old Jean up in our strong, young arms and carried him into the warm room, and laid him on the sofa.

We all walked home that night very sad. Old Jean never drove that gay little band of slaves home to their hardly won rest again.—Walter Blackburn Harte in the Yankee Blade.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Alexis Tolstoi, a brother of the Russian novelist, Leo Tolstoi, has written a story which is said to be as strong as those of the more famous member of his family.

It is practically settled that Mr. Stanley is to go out to the Congo in the interest of the Independent state before the close of the present year, and will remain there for a long period.

Miss Louisa Macdonald is only 33, but has already won a grand record as a classical student, and, better still, has had that record acknowledged in being elected principal of the University College for Women, at Sidney, New South Wales.

The King of Denmark puts on no frills or style as he rambles through the streets of Copenhagen, and would probably attract even less attention than he does now if he did not wear a plug hat which looks old enough to be one of Mr. Gladstone's cast-offs.

One of the conspicuous figures in the new mining town, Creede, is a widow Mrs. Marie Love, with a large family of children. She is honored and admired by the rough men who surround her, and by her sagacity is rapidly accumulating a large fortune in real estate speculations.

Captain Charles Richardson, who at one time, it is said, was the confidential secretary of Boss Tweed, lives now in Covington, Ky. He is eighty-eight years old and recently gave evidence of his juvenility of spirt by taking unto himself a blushing bride of nineteen summers.

Mrs. Ella W. Peattie, who under the title of "With Scrip and Staff" has written for children a story of mediaeval flavor and of surpassing interest, is an Omaha newspaper woman whose name has become familiar to Eastern readers through the excellent short stories she has written for the magazines.

Max O'Rell, whose admiration for the women of the United States is well known, appears to have set the style for his literary countrymen in their treatment of cisatlantic femininity. M. Stephane Jousselin, who has just published a book called "Yankees Fin de Siecle," praises without stint "her majesty, the American woman."

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED,

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

JOHN HUNTINGTON'S HEALTH

Sensational Stories Cabled to America.

Col. David R. Paige Believed to be Waiting to Get an Interview With the Financier.

Dresden, April 13.—Col. David R. Paige, of Paige, Carey & Co., of New York, who, it has been charged has a guilty knowledge of the forged indorsements of Mr. John Huntington on certain notes said to be held by certain banks in Cleveland and elsewhere, is supposed to be in hiding in this city waiting for a chance to appeal to Mrs. Huntington for mercy.

Vague stories are afloat concerning Mr. Huntington and his medical attendant, Dr. Abnett, an American, who has been to his patient half nurse and half doctor.

Mr. Huntington arrived here a month ago with his wife, a friend and Dr. Abnett. Mr. Huntington soon became critically ill. Eminent physicians who were called in said that besides other disorders he was suffering from habitual doses of morphine. It was decided to send him to a private hospital, but to this Dr. Abnett strenuously objected. He seemed to have strong influence over Mr. Huntington.

Many exciting scenes are said to have occurred before he was finally taken to the hospital and placed under the care of Dr. Hoeltze. In fact it was found necessary to call upon a prominent American to interfere on behalf of Mrs. Huntington before Mr. Huntington could be removed. Finally Mrs. Huntington paid Dr. Abnett $2,000 to leave her husband.

Mr. Huntington is now said to have recovered from the effects of the morphine. His general health is slowly improving. He is suffering from abscesses on the hips, and has been reduced to a skeleton. Mr. Herd, his son-in-law, practically admits the truth of the morphine story, but says that the drug was ordered by Mr. Huntington's physician, and that Mr. Huntington voluntarily paid Dr. Abnett to return to America.

NOTES FROM DEFIANCE.

Death of a Lady at 101—More Farlow Suits—General Mention.

Defiance, O., April 13.—(Special)—Mrs. Hannah Boutette, aged 101 years and 16 days, is dead. She was residing with her granddaughter, Mrs. E. J. Webb. Mrs. Boutette's life is full of interest, in fact she is one of the most remarkable personages residing in this city.

She was married to John Boutelle in 1812, and she has witnessed with her husband many historical events.

Her funeral was held to-day at the M. E. church under the direction of the W. R. C., Rev. J. M. Mills and Rev. A. L. Jordan officiating.

Work has commenced on the street railway extension to East Defiance. Superintendent Nelson is superintending the work. Thirty-eight men are now at work, but the force will be increased.

A suit has been filed by Amos Farlow, through his attorneys, Enos and Jonston, in which the defendants are Frank L. Farlow, Mary, his wife, and John W. Winn, assignee of Frank L. Farlow.

The plaintiff asks judgment against the first named defendants in the sum of $3,500 on promissory notes and asks for a foreclosure of mortgages given to secure the notes.

The Merchants' National bank has also brought suit against Frank L. Farlow, Amos Farlow and Benjamin Farlow on note for $910. This is one of the notes claimed to have been forged. The bank's attorneys are Hill & Hubbard.

Henry D. Kittner, of Delaware township, has been adjudged insane and was taken to the Toledo asylum.

WORTH KNOWING.

That Allcock's Porous Plasters are the highest result of medical science and skill, and in ingredients and method have never been equalled.

That they are the original and genuine porous plasters, upon whose reputation imitators trade.

That Allcock's Porous Plasters never fail to perform their remedial work quickly and effectually.

That this fact is attested by thousands of voluntary and unimpeachable testimonials from grateful patients.

That for rheumatism, weak back, sciatica, lung trouble, kidney disease, dyspepsia, malaria, and all local pains, they are invaluable.

That when you buy Allcock's Porous Plasters you absolutely obtain the best plasters made.

THE NEW COAL PIPE LINE

Wonderful Scheme of an Engineer.

He Thinks His Plan a Good One and Will Organize a Company to Operate It.

New York, April 13.—The scheme to send coal overland by pipe from the mines to cities brought out from its promoters to-day a descriptive statement. W. C. Andrews, president of the New York Steam company, claims credit for the invention, which is to pulverize coal, dissolve it in water and propel the solution by power at the starting point. Mr. Andrews will form a company if capital is found with faith in it.

"I have pulverized anthracite coal to a powder and pumped it," said Mr. Andrews to-day, "half coal and half water, at a speed of five miles per hour, for a distance of 3,000 miles.

"We are now working on the famous Connellville coking coal, mined near Pittsburg, and it works well. We shall continue the pumping of that for the same distance. We shall then charge the pipe line with the Pittsburg seam of high grade gas coal and do the same thing. These bituminous coals are of less specific gravity than the anthracite, and it was for that reason that I took anthracite first, as being the most difficult.

The workings of this pipe line have been inspected by Andrew Carnegie, Mr. Frick of Pittsburg, the greatest coke producer in the world; Jay C. Morse, president of the Illinois Steel company (their works and Mr. Carnegie's being the largest consumers of coal in the world), and Mr. Worthington, the great pump builder, and none of them has as yet been able to point out any defects or give me any reason why it is not a practical success.

"The coal is first pulverized at the mines and is then purified by washing, and all the sulphur, iron pyrites, slate, etc., removed, and then transported to market. The expense of transportation by pipe line is very small compared with that by rail. Instead of its riding in a car on wheels it rides in water in a finely atomized condition, all the more valuable for most purposes.

"The quantity of coal that even a small pipe will carry in 24 hours is one of the most astonishing features. A pipe so small as four inches, at 1,200 pounds pressure per square inch, which is entirely feasible, will deliver over 300 tons per day; a 12-inch pipe will deliver 5,000 tons; and a 24-inch pipe will deliver 28,000 tons per 24 hours. The pumping stations will be about thirty miles apart, according to grade."

BETTER THAN ANY TONIC.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls and Their Children are Al Gaining Strength.

The following communication from Mr. G. E. Ingalls, the well-known musician of Duluth, Minn., is self-explanatory:

"I wish to add my testimonial to the beneficial effects of Paine's celery compound for all persons, young or old, who in the spring need a reliable strength-giver or tonic for the system, or whose blood needs cleansing of impurities.

"During the past three months I have used this compound for my wife, my children, and myself, with marked increase in color and general tone of health."

Everyone knows that Paine's celery compound is the one standard remedy that strengthens the nerves, purifies the blood, and makes well those who use it.

It is bought by the half dozen bottles in many families, that they may always have this valuable remedy in the house. It keeps perfectly, the last drop in the bottle being as full of curative power as the first.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

The Opening Day Proved a Surprise to Many People.

The big league opened the season yesterday, and with one exception the home clubs lost, which is the reverse of the usual order of things, and only proves the uncertainty of base ball. The result of the day's play was as follows, the home club being the first mentioned:

Cincinnati 5, Pittsburg 7.
Baltimore 3, Brooklyn 13.
Washington 4, Boston 14.
Philadelphia 4, New York 5.
Louisville 5, Cleveland 2.
St. Louis 10, Chicago 14.

Notes.

Anson opened the season with a home run. His alleged "glass" arm won't cut any figure this season.

Poor old Cleveland. The Colonels tramped all over the spiders.

After all the bluster, Cincinnati went down before the Incoked Italians.

NEWS FROM NORWALK.

The Maple City Wants a Finger in a Railroad.

Norwalk, O., April 13.—(Special.)—It is proposed by our people to bond the city in the sum of $40,000 to assist in building the new Sandusky, Ashland & Southern Road. A bill has been prepared with that view and sent to Columbus, and the Legislature will be asked to at once pass it so that our people can vote on the proposition.

Seeley Palmer the oldest resident of Fitchville township and one of the oldest in the county, died yesterday, aged 96.

John L. Moke, the Cleveland gamekeeper and detective, who was in jail here on the charge of perjury, was released yesterday, on $200 bail.

Frank Barney, of New London, was adjudged insane yesterday and will be taken to Toledo asylum.

THE COMING COUNTRY.

The great Flathead Valley, in Montana, is attracting capital and labor. It is marvelously fertile in soil, has the largest coal veins on the Pacific slope, limitless forests of the finest timber and precious metals. Columbia Falls, the chief town of the region, has immense water power, and offers a good field for manufacturers. Maps and descriptive matter sent by the Northern International Improvement Co., Columbia Falls, Mont.

WINDOW GLASS.

A Big Shut Down Has Been Agreed Upon.

Millville, N. J., April 13.—The eastern window glass manufacturers, it is reported, indorse the action of the Western Manufacturers Association which in Chicago last week decided to shut down the factories on May 31 and remain idle until October 15. No meeting has been held by the eastern manufacturers as yet, but it is probable that the majority of them will follow the example of the western manufacturer. If the rule to shut down from May 31 to October 15 is enforced it will be the longest window glass shutdown since the long strike of 1883.

THE PLEA OF INSANITY

Cannot be urged in extenuation of the conduct of hosts of people who constantly inflict injury upon themselves, and lay the foundation for serious and disastrous bodily trouble by the use, in season and out of season, upon slight necessity and without discrimination, drastic vegetable cathartics and poisonous mineral cholagogues—notably the various forms of mercury—to relieve simply constipation, a complaint remediable at any stage by the persistent use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This famous remedy never gripes, evacuates too copiously or weakens the bowels. If there is any other tonic aperient in or out of the pharmacopoedia of which this can truthfully be said, we are unaware of it. Abandon the fatuous habit of dosing and use this benign regulator, which also sets right weakened stomachs and disordered livers. Rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, malaria, debility and kidney complaints are troubles all conquerable by the Bitters.

AT THE "GYM."

O my little lady's lovely
In whatever guise she goes!
E'en in hideous hoop or bustle
She'd be belle to all the beaux.
Pretty girls are always pretty—
Monstrous modes can ne'er bedim
Beauty's brightness—but my lady
Is most lovely at the "Gym."

She's the peer of any princess
At manoeuvring a train;
O she comes out mighty strong in
Long-tailed silken gowns, does Jane!
She is fair in Fashion's trappings,
But she's fairer in the trim,
Neat nor gaudy, jaunty "get up"
That's so "fetching" at the "Gym!"

She'd bewitch you in the ball-room.
And she'd stun you on the street;
But she'd never so beguile you,
Tho' a-many times you'd meet
This my lady, as when working
Up the muscle in her slim,
Lithe and little, but athletic
Brave young body at the "Gym!"

Like some blossomed bough a-swaying
With each vagrant summer breeze,
Only sweeter, seemed my lady,
As she swung from the trapeze;
Tho' I'd vowed I'd never, never,
Fall in love—tho' I might skim
O'er thin ice—I "took a tumble"
When I saw her at the "Gym!"

IN THE BIG WHEAT PITS

Prices and Values the Country Over.

Crop Reports and Their Significance.

Will the Present Year Grow Enough Grain to Fill the Large Bins Now Being Emptied.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 389,074 bushels, and at five other western points 141,284 bushels. Aggregate 528,358 bushels. Same day in 1891, 214,860 bushels. The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat 90,980 bus. and flour to an aggregate of 400,000 bus. Export of corn, 329,357 bus., and of oats 23,461 bus.

London market as reported herein is firmer, with better demand for wheat. Corn weak. Liverpool wheat dull. Corn lower.

Exports, and Wants of Europe and England.

The exports of flour and wheat to Europe and England for two weeks, it is stated, aggregated 10,370,000 bus. Placing the estimated wants, over and above the sales of home grown wheat, for the same weeks, at 14,000,000 bus, we presume the statement approximates to accuracy.

Bradstreets' report of the visible supply makes wheat east of the Rockies decreased 2,319,000 bus., and on the Pacific coast decreased 101,000; aggregate decrease, 2,420,000 bus.

American Crops.

Some of the slow coach grain papers have at last adopted our theory a month old, that this country would be short of last year's production 100,000,000 bu.

We congratulate them.

But now every day is making it more and more sure that we may not produce 500,000,000 bu.

Why? Let is see.

In the three northwest states that produced probably 140,000,000 bu in 1891, almost no seeding has been done, and the ground is yet too soft and wet.

It will require a week of dry weather to fit the fields for seeding. That will be very late seeding and a late seeding may subject the ripening crop to blighting frosts.

In the six large surplus states of winter wheat the government average is 77, against 97 in 1891. Good weather conditions will redeem a part of this loss, but there is not life and strength enough in the plant to recoup the deficiency in 60 days. We hope for a crop of 500,000,000 bu., but we do not believe in it.

General Review.

The morning reports of English markets did not furnish material for inspiration of the friends of wheat on this side of the waters, although London opened firmer.

But a conviction that wheat at Chicago was too low found a resting place in the minds of dealers east and west, and the markets not only started higher, but continued to advance during the forenoon. Our calculation yesterday clearly proved that wheat was too low, or Liverpool quotations were bogus.

Foreign markets are quoted as closing stronger.

In New York May and July wheat closed 2c higher. May corn 1-4c and July 5-8c higher. May oats 3-8c up. In Chicago May wheat closed 2 3-8c, and July 2 1-4c higher. May corn 1-4c and July 1-2c higher. May oats 1-2c up.

In Toledo—Business has been less active. Wheat is too unsteady, and as it flops around two or three cents up and down every day dealers are rattled and hesitating. To-day we are glad to report an improved market. As the great selling pressure which has rested on the market for a good while seems to be removed to-day prices easily adjust themselves on a higher basis.

Early sales for May were 3-4c higher. July the same. Prices steadily advanced and closed 3c higher. Opening sales were at 90c, and closing 92 1-4c. July commenced at 84 1-2c and left off at 86c, a gain of 2 1-2c. August sold at 83 3-4c, and closed at 84 3-4c, a gain of 2 1-4c.

Cash wheat was not largely dealt in. There were buyers of round lots at 1-4c above May, while sellers wanted more. Sales were in car lots at about May price. No. 2 soft sold at 90c early; at close the market was 92 1-4c; No. 3 soft at 88 1-2c early, and higher to buy at close. Rejected No. 1 at 82c; No. 2 at 77c; rejected white at 77c.

Corn was dearer. No. 2 soft at 39 1-2 @40c; May, 40 3-4c; No. 3 at 39c; No. 4 at 37c. Yesterday we noted sales of May corn at 37 1-2c, which should read 37c.

Clover seed firm, and prices steady. Prime, $7.30; No. 2, $6.95@7.00.

From 11 o'clock to noon the market was extremely dull.

Prices were firmly maintained, however, and in some cases a trifling additional advance was recorded by 12 o'clock. At this writing the market is stagnant. Sales to noon 108,000 shares.

The indifference and heartlessness which the southern people, according to northern republican journals, feel toward their slaves is beautifully illustrated by an incident that occurred recently. Dr. Wm. Wilson, of Pittsburg, Pa., was brought up in New Orleans and nursed in his infancy by a colored woman, Frances Carter, now living in Alton, Ill. After the war Wilson's parents died and he went to Pittsburg, where he practiced his profession with such success that he amassed a fortune of $150,000. He died recently a childless bachelor, and left the whole of his property to his "Old Mammy."

Dr. Gee Huk, a Chinese physician of Philadelphia, is prepared to cure everybody of everything. In his circular he says: "A thousand times better it is to try the virtues of my Chinese vegetable remedies than to throw money away on those who cannot help you get well. By the use of Gee Huk's remedies you regain your health and save your wealth, while if you go to another doctor you lose both. Gee Huk is the ministering angel of the great physician, Nature, whose remedies never fail. He has uncovered Nature's secrets and is benefiting his fellow-man by the discoveries which he and his ancestors before him have made."

Mr. De Lamothe, the governor of Senegis in a dilemma. He has several criminals on his hands, awaiting capital punishment. When his workmen tried to put the guillotine in order they found that, owing to its long disuse, it was in a very bad way, and it broke down completely during a "rehearsal." Then the governor looked around for an executioner, and could find no one who would volunteer to work the defective machine. He has written to the colonial office in Paris, requesting the loan of an executioner who knows his business and of a well-regulated guillotine. The under secretary for the colonies did not happen to have a supply of the valuable commodities on hand, and he applied to the minister of justice. It is expected that one of the assistant executioners in Paris and the second best guillotine in stock will be shipped to Senegal.

There are many mysterious things about beetles. Those of Brazil are famed for their brilliant metallic hues, yet no one has been able to find out what makes these colors. Some are of gold, others are of silver, yet others are of blue enamel seemingly, and so on through an endless variety of tints. One variety is called the "diamond beetle," because it is covered with minute points which reflect the light. Their use for jewelry is familiar. They are employed for trimming dresses, and sometimes a particularly fine one is kept alive and allowed to wander over the corsage of the wearer, attached by a slender chain.

The Soliel du Dimanche, Paris, has discovered (or imagined) the champion absent-minded man. He dropped in at the morgue one night with something more than a heavy jag on and said to an officer in charge: "I've not been home for the last three days, and I've come to see if I happened to be here."

NOTHING LIKE IT

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC is a distinctive remedy, and is totally unlike any of the other blood medicines which are sold. It cures diseases of the blood and skin by removing the poison germs which cause them, and at the same time supplies good blood and tissue for the wasted parts. Don't be imposed on by substitutes, which are said to be just as good, for it is not true. No medicine has performed as many wonderful cures, or has relieved so much suffering.

"My blood was badly poisoned last year, which got my whole system out of order—diseased, and a constant source of suffering, no appetite, and no enjoyment of life. I bought two bottles of Swift's Specific and took it, and it brought me right out. No better remedy was ever used for blood diseases than Swift's Specific." JOHN GAVIN, Dayton, Ohio.

$10.00 SUITS AT $7.50!

An Eastern manufacturer, having a large number of Men's Suits which he wished to close out, and knowing we could use quantities, forwarded samples to our Detroit house and asked for an offer. We got them at our own price, which was a low one. Our proportion, several hundred suits, in which there is a large variety of styles, came in late last week, and THIS WEEK WE OFFER AT $7.50 MEN'S SUITS WORTH $10. There's not a suit worth less, the patterns are A1 making and trimming, first-class, and there's at least a saving of $2.50 to every buyer.
